FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ROGUE GLOBAL SOLUTIONS LAUNCHES NEW WEB SITE, VIRTUAL HUNT GROUP

August 5, 2009 – Washington, DC – Rogue Global Solutions is proud to announce its brand-new website, immediately accessible at <http://www.rogueglobalsolutions.com>.

The new site provides information on the range of solutions Rogue currently provides its clients as well as a regularly updated blog and commentary on current technical news.

Also, showcased on the site is Rogue's inaugural product, Virtual Hunt Group. Virtual Hunt Group allows multiple phone lines, whether they are land lines, cell phones, or VoIP lines—from multiple service providers—to be tied together by a single virtual main number. When an end user calls the main number, the call is intelligently routed to the next available line.

Virtual Hunt Group is a technology that was pioneered for use in the Obama campaign's boiler rooms where it was used to successfully route tens of thousands of calls across a highly scalable VoIP network to a diverse group of phone lines.

The launch of the website and announcement of Virtual Hunt Group marks the third month Rogue Global Solutions has been providing high quality technical solutions to its clients.

Rogue Global Solutions is a technology strategy firm started by technologists from the Obama campaign. Rogue was founded shortly after the inauguration of President Obama with the desire to bring the technical innovations of the campaign to governmental and international organizations.
